

ABOUT THE CLUB: (Member of the Ko Sutemi Karate Do Union)

The Coszacks School of Self-Defense teaches a combination of Karate, Kung-Fu, Judo & Traditional Martial Arts Weapons. Our style of Self-Defense is truly original & is known as a "Mixed Martial Arts". The Coszacks Style was founded by the late, Grand Master Jeffery L. Moore in Cincinnati in late 1960's, & shortly after this was brought to the Zanesville area. The Coszacks School of Self-Defense (AKA Coszacks Karate Club) have been teaching in the Zanesville area since 1970 and have organized many Karate Demonstrations consisting of board & brick breaking, defense against multiple attacks, & slicing a cucumber off an individual stomach with a sword for such organizations as Boy Scouts of America, Bethesda Fitness Center, Good Samaritan Hospital, Crooksville Pottery Festival, Cambridge Arts & Crafts Festival, Colony Square Mall, Many Schools & Churches to name a few. We are recognized by the A.K.K.A. (American Karate & Kenpo Association) & by the A.K.L. (American Karate League).

We strive to teach each student certain skills that will enable him or her to defend themselves honorably. We try to promote the true spirit of Karate by developing;

HEALTH (Physical Development)

CHARACTER (Mental Discipline)

SKILL (Proficiency in contest or every day life)

RESPECT (Courtesy to others)

HUMILITY (To be Humble & not a Show off)

REMEMBER!!! Modern day Karate is not only a self-defense art, but is practiced as a sport, a physical and mental conditioner, & a builder of character. We strive to help students develop their own personal Self-Control, Confidence, & peace of mind.
